Oswald's 'Estate'

DALLAS — Lee Harvey Oswald's widow, Marina, received legal rights to his property, including the rifle he used to kill President Kennedy. The rifle and the .38-caliber pistol with which Oswald killed policeman J. D. Tippit were valued at $10,000 because of their historical interest — the price bid by a gun collector. Both weapons are now in the possession of the Department of Justice. Mrs. Oswald was appointed community administrator for the property and posted bond of $5000 — half the property's value — as required by law.
